

Political Correctness

I think there gets to a point where society panders too much to the complaining of special interest groups. Whereby a designated few people with the right political connections and a controversial subject of the day can change our very way of thinking and the way we live, in the name of political correctness, or status quo. It's the old story of the squeaky wheel getting all of the oil. Until one day you wake up and realize that this is nothing at all like the wonderful world where you grew up and used to thrive in.